2021 EXHIBITIONS

2021 GALLERY PIQUEL, New Hope, Pa & Lambertville, NJ  new paintings
    www.gallerypiquel.com

2021 TRENDZ GALLERY, Stone Harbor, NJ new paintings

2021 CHORA LEONE GALLERY, Somers Point, NJ new paintings

2021 THE PERKINS CENTER OF ART, Collingswood, NJ
"PERSEPHONE RISING" co-curated with Molly Sanger Carpenter
    5.15-7.16 opening 6.12 5-8 p.m.

2021 THE PERKINS CENTER OF ART, Collingswood, NJ
"CLIQUE" from ARTC AND STROBE, a show featuring art and photographs of the artists who make them. Bill Horin/photographer 10.9-11.19 opening 10.9 5-8p.m.

2021 "THE ARTISTS OF GOSHEN" documentary film at THE LEVOY THEATER, Millville, NJ 9.17 8 p.m.

2020 EXHIBITIONS

PERKINS CENTER FOR THE ARTS, Morristown, NJ  11.23.20-01.23.21
    GALLERY PIQUEL, New Hope, Pa & Lambertville, NJ new paintings
        1.215.862.3523 please contact gallery for hours during this time.

2020 TRENDZ GALLERY, Stone Harbor, NJ  1.609.368.3313 new paintings
    please contact gallery for hours during this time.

2020 CHORA LEONE GALLERY, Somers Point, NJ  1.609.927.9909 please contact gallery for hours

2019 GALLERY 50, Bridgeton, NJ April3-27 opening April 5th 6-9p.m.
    FURFINSANDFEATHERS with Molly Sanger Carpenter

2019 SOMA GALLERY, Cape May, NJ June 1-30, Gallery One

2019 TRENDZ, Stone Harvor, NJ ongoing/new work

2019 CHORA/LEONE GALLERY, Somers Point, NJ ongoing/new work
2018 CHORA/LEONE GALLERY, Somers Point, NJ ongoing/new work

2018 TRENDZ, Stone Harbor, NJ ongoing/new work

2018 POP-UP SHOW, TBA Summer 2018/new work/open new studio

2018 THE DRAWING ROOMS, Jersey City, NJ
big/small show meet the artist 1.27 3-5 12.15.17-2.10.18

2018 RED RAVEN ART COMPANY, Lancaster, Pa.
"taking flight" group show opening 1.6

2017 WILLIAM RIS GALLERY EAST, Jamesport, NY solo show, with Susan Saunders/Photographs opening sept 30 4-7

2017 EMERGE GALLERY, Saugerties, NY "Equine" group show opening September 2

2017 SOMA GALLERY, Cape May, NJ opening may 27
May-June Gallery Three
"let the games begin"

2017 RED RAVEN ART COMPANY, Lancaster, Pa.
February 3rd Highlight Artist

2017 TRENDZ, Stone Harbor, NJ

2017 CHORA LEONE GALLERY, Somers Point, NJ

2016 STANEK GALLERY, Philadelphia, Pa., 242 N. 3rd St.
November Opening: November 3rd
"BRIDGES" curated by ARTC & MARY CANTONE

2016 PICTURING THE GARDEN STATE, Bergen Gallery
Bergen Community College, 400 Paramus Road, Paramus, NJ
Curated by Amy Lipton
March 1-April 8 Opening March 1 6-8
"MERCURY AND THE LITTLE MYSTERIES/BONUS VERSION"

MERCURY AND THE LITTLE MYSTERIES was inspired by weekly three hour seaside treks at a bird refuge. Time and temperature combined to mark passages and discoveries. MERCURY I is a large oil painting which serves as a kind of base line for the small THE LITTLE MYSTERIES, small satellite egg tempera collages suspended in translucent bags as a temporal form of evidence of those fleeting moments. OPENING ARIL 18TH

CHORA LEONE GALLERY, Somers Point, NJ
ongoing

TRENDZ GALLERY, Stone Harbor, NJ ongoing

2015 DRAWINGROOMS PROJECT ROOMS SHOW

180 Grand St. Jersey City, NJ
February 20-March 15
Sunday, February 22nd artist's reception 3-6

12.11.14-1.25.15 DRAWING ROOMS
The Big Small Painting Show 2014
Drawing Rooms/180 Grand St. Jersey City, NJ
The Big Small Show Fundraiser

Saturday, December 13, 6pm to 9pm

180 Grand St. Jersey City

www.drawingrooms.org

The BIG small Painting Show and BIG small works Show—Featuring almost 100 talented painters, collage artists, print-makers and sculptors and from New Jersey and NYC! Be a part of our special fundraiser event. The evening starts at 6pm with a view of the exhibition at Drawing Rooms and then moves to Victory Hall for light food, wine, live flamenco music and dance from Marc Sloan and Forever Moonlight!

TICKETS only 25$ each - 2 for 45$ order at http://drawingrooms.org/events.html

Your donation helps keep us going bringing art, music and classes to our community all year long!

DRAWING ROOMS is operated by Victory Hall Inc. a 501c3 non-profit organization.

Preview Sales Evening 4-8pm Friday, December 12th

10.2014 TRENDZ
209 96th Street, Stone Harbor, NJ
609.368.3313

AND IT WAS GOOD
My interest in mermaids came about ten years ago with an email announcement for an exhibition of paintings about Mami Wata, the African water goddess.

Coupled with the fact I spent every summer at the beach, and then mostly in the ocean, I spent many hours diving and imagining myself a dolphin. When I was in delivery with my son, I got over the fear and pain by imagining myself in a river of females of all time, just floating and flowing with that river and all the pain passed by. I have no idea where that notion came from. Somehow reading about Mami Wata many years later, something connected. She was known as the "originator, generatrix, the mother, the mother of the gods, the mateless one". Through research of this small selection of images, many of these are goddesses of fertility and motherhood. I do have a hunch many of these goddesses were shifted to sirens, or beautiful creatures used to lure men to their deaths, when a shift to patriarchal societies replaced goddess worship.

The research of Mami Wata led me not only to these other myths, a few of whom are later incarnations of Mami Wata herself, as she was worshiped from Africa to Turkey and was perhaps the first incarnation of Isis in Egypt, but also to searching for a scientific basis for these myths. One of the books was a book suggesting an aquatic beginning entitled THE AQUATIC APE by Elaine Morgan, writer and evolutionary anthropologist. Her work and the work of her predecessors is still obviously controversial, but is heralded by the likes of Sir Richard Attenborough.

Investigating these world wide myths and seeing the similarities in stories has me certain the search of these mysteries has just begun.
Falling's weightlessness is a troubled one It's not like the airtime of up-drafting hawks or homosapient gliders hung on wires under silk billows out of their element snubbing gravity putting on airs, nor like the honking camaraderie of southbound geese chasing solar flares

To know that speeding mass
in collusion with collision brings bereavement in worlds of muscle blood and bone is usually enough to keep most breathers from dancing on edges or diving off ledges

By a wise prescience we understand that freefall without orbit must be a heavy weightlessness
no matter how long its freedom lasts
if gravity's die is cast

Bodies are more fragile than stone and steel.
In falling minds minutes are surreal
and time expands as down mind coasts
-as future shortens past grows richer and now's edge is honed so fine
as to split the hairs of ghosts,
and life 's full-tipped to spill last hours out which cling to sides of tissue pitchers

Past becomes a fuller world, more here, which is why old fallers often go there more than fresh fallers do, who, still green, in exhilarated falling feel only wind in hair
the sheen of mornings crisp and new being blessed to not fully grasp that they are falling too

by Jim Culleny
Lynn Henry

9/21-10/20

CHORA LEONE GALLERY, 419 C Bethel Rd. Somers Point, NJ ongoing, NEW WORK www.choraleonegallery.com

1999  WILLIAM RIS GALLERY, Camp Hill, Pa  two person show
1997  OCEAN CITY ART CENTER, Ocean City, NJ  group show
GALLERY 50, Bridgeton, NJ  solo show
1978  WILLIAM PENN MUSEUM, Harrisburg, Pa. "Women in the Arts"
1974  THE CORCORAN MUSEUM, Washington, DC  INTERACTIVE WORK "Now You See It" curated, produced and exhibited in a traveling show focusing on the environment. The show consisted of noted painters, photographers, sculptors, writers and musicians. Partial funding with a NJ State Arts Grant. 1990-1994 "The Midsummer Series" a series of nine paintings depicting a nocturnal arboretum based on Shakespeare's play. The show was a multimedia interactive with actors and musicians arranged with Kate Patton from the Globe. 2002 PARTIAL LIST OF COLLECTIONS AND COMMISSIONS The Philadelphia Zoological Society Waterford/Wedgwood, USA The Borough of Stone Harbor The County of Cape May Cape Savings and Loan Corporation Thiem Medical Publishers, NY